

Hangging out

with Vut in Vietnam

Hi. My name is Vut and I am ten years old. I usually wake up at 5:30 in the morning and help my mother boil drinking water and cook breakfast.

I have breakfast with my parents and my younger brother. We eat a lot of rice in Vietnam!

One of my chores is to feed the chickens and collect the eggs our hens have laid.

After school and homework, I like to go with my mother to pick pineapples. We also grow rice, bananas and corn.

Here I am brushing my teeth. Do you have to brush your teeth too?

Every day, my brother and I have a bath at the village tap.

My favourite subject at school is art and drawing. I enjoy drawing with my friend. Do you have a favourite subject?

This is the river that flows through our village. We have to cross the river to get to school but today we are on holidays. School is good but holidays are better!

Child Sponsorship helped make some great changes in Vut's community. World Vision helped the village make a gravity-fed water tap so Vut's mum doesn't need to get up very early to get fresh water from a stream far from her house. More children in Vut's village can go to school since classrooms were built and school supplies provided.
